

INTERNATIONAL APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION AND SCHOLARSHIP

AN INTRODUCTION

Berea College, founded in 1855, is a racially integrated, coeducational liberal arts college. Berea's motto, "God has made of one blood all peoples of the earth" reflects the conviction of Berea founder and ardent abolitionist, John G. Fee. Berea's spiritual foundations are rooted in the Christian faith, but Berea welcomes people of all faiths, or no faith at all, to study in a diverse campus setting. Berea is committed to providing a high-quality education for high-achieving students with limited financial resources.

Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Berea seeks to maintain in its program the liberal arts tradition which stresses free inquiry and, in addition to pursuit of knowledge within a chosen academic discipline, provides for a broad and deep general education experience which promotes life-long learning. Berea invites students to a campus which is based on the equality of all people regardless of race, class, age, religion, sexual orientation, or nationality. Berea College expects its students to respect the dignity and rights of all people.

As an important part of campus life, all Berea students participate in a work-learning program. Through this program, the College wishes to demonstrate the dignity of labor, accomplish essential campus work, and provide students with a means of earning wages to assist with their educational and personal expenses. First-year students can expect to earn approximately $2,000 during the nine-month academic year.

Berea College is located in Berea, Kentucky, a small community of approximately 14,000 residents, located 40 miles south of Lexington, Kentucky. The temperature ranges from 15 to 32 degrees Celsius, (60 to 90 degrees Fahrenheit) in the summer and -6 to 4 degrees Celsius (20 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit) in the winter, although at times it gets colder. The campus encompasses 140 rolling acres (57 hectares) with more than 100 buildings, including 15 residence halls, library, and a sports/fitness center. Berea College enrolls approximately 1,600 students, most (70%) are from the southern and central Appalachian regions of the United States; another 22% are from areas of the United States outside of Appalachia; and approximately 8% of our students are international.

Academics and Costs Info

The first two years of study include coursework in our General Studies program, which includes an array of required studies in areas such as Mathematics, Social Sciences, Sciences, and Humanities. The final two years are generally devoted to studies in the major area of study. It is expected that all Berea College students will graduate within eight regular terms of attendance (four years).

The scholarship from Berea College only applies while a student is enrolled at Berea. If you plan to continue your studies in the United States after graduation from Berea, you will need to obtain an adjustment to your VISA and arrange for financial aid with the graduate or professional institution that you will be attending. Because of this, international students are not able to study engineering at Berea or participate in the College's dual degree 3/2 Engineering Program. The Nursing program has higher English proficiency requirements (TOEFL iBT 83, with a 26 on the spoken section). If admitted to Berea with lower English proficiency, students will not be admitted to the major until the required scores are achieved. Students will be given the opportunity to retest, however, students failing to meet the TOEFL iBT requirement by the first day of their third term of enrollment at Berea are ineligible to pursue the Nursing major. If admitted to Berea with lower English proficiency, students will not be admitted to the major until the required scores are achieved.

COSTS

There is no application fee to apply to Berea College.

International students accepted by Berea College are funded for four years of study. We ask that each international student, once offered admission, to pay a one-time enrollment fee of $50 and a $2,200 deposit before coming to Berea to help with costs for medical, dental, emergencies, or other unexpected expenses. Students may apply for an exception to paying the deposit if there are inadequate family finances. The remaining balance of the deposit will be returned upon graduation. Having the deposit while at Berea is essential.

The funding provided by Berea College includes cost of education (the equivalent of tuition) for up to four years. Costs for room and board are also covered completely for the first year.

Because all students at Berea contribute to their educational costs and to the operation of the College via the Labor program, you will have the opportunity each term to contribute to the cost of room and board. The amount of your contribution is based upon your time on campus, or rank (sophomore, junior, senior). As a result, the amount you will pay from your labor earnings toward room and board (term bill) should increase each year. This formula is designed to never exceed your ability to pay and to always leave you with money for discretionary expenses, provided you earn a minimum of $1,000 each summer.

It will take your full cooperation of working the maximum amount of hours in the labor program and during breaks and adopting a frugal life style (which we encourage of all students) in order to have the necessary funds needed. Upon receipt of the required fee and deposit, admitted international students will be promptly issued an I-20. Students are also responsible for all Visa fees, and any other necessary travel expenses to travel to the U.S. We understand that you may not initially have any financial means to pay for all the above expenses, but please do not let this prevent you from applying.

Admission Requirements

ADMISSION PREREQUISITES

Although international enrollment is limited to about 25 new students each fall, Berea College nevertheless seeks to serve students from as many different areas of the world as possible. Successful candidates for admission have a record of outstanding academic achievement and a strong sense of educational purpose. Berea College does not teach English to those who have not yet mastered the language.

International students must have mastered the English language sufficiently to understand and participate in class lectures and discussions, read required texts and other materials, and complete written and other assignments. However, all enrolled international students will be assessed to determine whether they would benefit from an English as a Second Language (ESL) course in the first semester. An additional ESL course may also be required in the second semester for some students. The Nursing program has higher English proficiency requirements (TOEFL iBT 83, with a 26 on the spoken section). If admitted to Berea with lower English proficiency, students will not be admitted to the major until the required scores are achieved. Students will be given the opportunity to retest, however, students failing to meet the TOEFL iBT requirement by the first day of their third term of enrollment at Berea are ineligible to pursue the Nursing major. If admitted to Berea with lower English proficiency, students will not be admitted to the major until the required scores are achieved.
