The Berea College Workplace Expectations

Workers are expected to:

- Exhibit enthusiasm for learning
- Act with integrity and caring
- Value all people
- Work as a team
- Serve others
- Encourage plain and sustainable living
- Celebrate work well done

Background:

The Workplace Expectations were adopted by the Administrative Committee in 1998 after the People Team worked with the campus community to develop a list of statements that translate the mission of Berea College into clear standards for the College workplace. In this way the Workplace Expectations define how Berea's workforce should go about its business. By incorporating these expectations into their daily work, every Berea College worker brings Berea College's core values to life across campus and helps create a workplace today that connects with Berea's founding legacy. Moreover, College workplaces that manifest these expectations create a positive atmosphere for student learning and for getting the work done well."

Key Learning Points:

- The People Team, the committee that developed the Workplace Expectations, distilled these statements from an examination of Berea's history, its Great Commitments, and the Common Learning Goals.
- Workplace Expectations help us to know that we are all connected to a set of fundamental, living principles that have guided our institution through its history.
- The Workplace Expectations are intended to provide all College workers succinct, clear guideposts for their behavior in the workplace.
- The Workplace Expectations are base statements that are broad in nature; each one is specifically defined by several "sample indicator" statements (links to these available on the People Services website).
- The Workplace Expectations were a primary resource for developing the "Performance Expectations" for the Student Labor Evaluation.
- The Workplace Expectations become meaningful and valuable to the extent that workers consider, discuss, and measure them. Otherwise, they are merely phrases on posters, banners, and other publicity media.

The Workplace Expectations

As a continuous learning environment built upon Berea's Great Commitments and Common Learning Goals, Berea College expects all workers "to be active learners, workers and servers," and seeks to be a place where the Christian values of human compassion, dignity, and equity are expressed and lived.

Berea College

Student Labor Evaluation

Greetings!

Your participation in the Student Labor Evaluation process at Berea College provides valuable support for the development of students, labor departments, and the labor program in general. Careful attention has been given to ensure that various components of the Student Labor Evaluation support the directives set forth in The Workplace Expectations and Labor Learning Goals.

Purpose Statement

The student labor evaluation process promotes student personal and professional development in the workplace by establishing performance standards consistent with the Berea College Workplace Expectations, assessing fulfillment of those standards, and determining ways in which the student and supervisor(s) / mentor(s) can collaborate to enhance student learning opportunities. The completion of this regular evaluation process creates a documented work performance history for each student as well as fulfills Berea College and federal compliance guidelines.

Simple in design, the tool supports student development in the workplace and provides an instrument to monitor and evaluate the progress of each student.

Instructions

Beginning Of Labor Assignment

- 1) Thoroughly review the Student Labor Evaluation form and familiarize yourself with the language, evaluation scales, and scoring system.
- 2) Discuss the evaluation form with your student(s) and explain how the tool will be used in evaluating performance in the workplace at mid-point and again at the end of the current labor assignment.
- 3) Have position descriptions on hand for each position in your department and available for distribution. Since the "Position Specific" section of the evaluation tool evaluates a student's performance as related to his/her position description, it is important that each student be given this information and made aware of all Position Description components including the learning opportunities available in that position.
- 4) Discuss any additions or adjustments that you would envision as key responsibilities to the positions.
- 5) NOTE: If adjustments are needed to the Position Description, please submit that request in writing to Labor Program Office. If assistance is needed with this, contact the Training and Assessment Specialist in the Labor Program office (ext. 3734) at your convenience.

OPTIONAL USE DURING THE BEGINNING OF LABOR ASSIGNMENTS: Using the form, do an informal assessment of student performance within the first 3 weeks of the term in order to identify areas where deficiencies may be occurring. Early identification and intervention is crucial in avoiding the establishment of poor work habits.

Mid-Point Evaluations

Mid-Point Evaluations should be conducted mid-way through a labor assignment. If the assignment is for an academic year, the mid-point would occur at the end of the fall term or the beginning of the spring term. When students are in a labor position for one term the mid-point would occur at mid-term or the middle of the summer labor assignment.

- 1) When approaching the mid-point of a labor assignment, each supervisor should prepare an evaluation form for each student in the department.
- 2) Score the students in each category and enter results in the “Mid-Point” Scoring Box. Please note that the shaded references found above the evaluation scale represent a scoring range for meeting expectations for the position. Meeting expectations should always be considered doing a good job. Performance that is found to be above or below basic expectations should be reflected in the scoring. Scoring that would be considered in the exceptional range should have accompanying comments documenting your decision.
- 3) Make appointments with each student and discuss your observations and justifications for each rating.
- 4) Allow the student to respond to your assessment.
- 5) Engage the student in formulating plans for improvements in all aspects of the form.
- 6) File and keep form for use during the final evaluation at the end of the labor assignment.

OPTIONAL USE MID-POINT EVALUATIONS: Allow the student to use the form and evaluate themselves prior to the mid-point evaluation. This provides a good basis for conversation during the mid-point conversation. This would be done in paper form only without submitting the student copy to the Labor Program Office.

Final Evaluation

- 1) At the end of the labor assignment and prior to setting up the final evaluation conference with your students, complete the evaluation form entering a final score from the evaluation scale, totaling the results, and entering your comments and observations. Please note that the shaded references found above the evaluation scale represent a scoring range for meeting expectations for the position. Meeting expectations should always be considered doing a good job. Performance that is found to be above or below basic expectations should be reflected in the scoring. Scoring that would be considered in the exceptional range should have accompanying comments documenting your decision.
- 2) During the final evaluation conference, discuss the final scoring results compared to those entered at mid-point. Celebrate improvements!
- 3) Discuss your comments and suggestions for continued improvement.
- 4) Allow students to respond to your assessment and enter any responses and observations they may have in the appropriate box.
- 5) Supervisor and student should sign the form.
- 6) Forward all completed forms to the Labor Program Office once all conferences are completed.

OPTIONAL USE #1 FOR FINAL EVALUATIONS: Allow the student to use the form and evaluate themselves prior to the final evaluation. This provides a good basis for conversation during the final review. This would be done in paper form only without submitting the student copy to the Labor Program Office.

OPTIONAL USE #2 FOR FINAL EVALUATIONS: The supervisor would first have an initial meeting with the student to discuss his/her work performance and then complete the final evaluation form for signature in a follow up meeting. This allows you to better understand various aspects of a student's work performance and communicate that through your final evaluation scoring. This could be combined with Optional Use #1 above.

- Exceeds Expectations (80-89) - consistently exceeds several of the position expectations.
- Meets Expectations (70-79) - consistently meets all of the position expectations for doing a good job.
- Needs Improvement (60-69) - performance is inadequate in one or more work areas.
- Unsatisfactory Performance (59 – below) - serious failure to meet the minimum performance requirements.

Moving From Labor to Careers

How will my labor experiences help me in a job search after graduation?

What am I learning and how will my labor experience support my overall career objectives in the future?

Take a look at what employers have said they are seeking in prospective employees.

The National Association of Colleges and Employers asked businesses, and nonprofits, and other organizations to rate 21 qualities of an “ideal candidate” for a job with their organization. The rating scale ranged from 5 – extremely important to 1 – not important.

- 4.7 Communication skills, honesty/integrity
- 4.5 Interpersonal skills, motivation, initiative, strong work ethic, teamwork
- 4.4 Computer skills
- 4.3 Analytical skills, flexibility/adaptability
- 4.2 Detail oriented
- 4.0 Organizational skills, leadership skills, self-confidence
- 3.9 Friendly-outgoing personality, tactfulness
- 3.8 Well-mannered/polite
- 3.7 Creativity
- 3.6 GPA (3.0 or better)
- 3.3 Entrepreneurial skills/risk-taker
- 3.2 Sense of humor
- 2.3 Bilingual skills

Labor assignments provide abundant opportunities to gain and develop knowledge, skills, and develop attitudes that employers are seeking when filling positions for their organizations. Learning in the classroom and through the Labor Department, helps to develop a variety of important skills that assist students in securing jobs in chosen professions. The transferable skills and tools that are learned in the workplace helps ensure that you have the best potential to be successful in future job hunting endeavors.
